Timmy was a playful and good little bear, but he was quite the prankster. He loved to copy his friends... even when they didn't like it very much.

“My acorn cupcake is so yummy!” said Squirrel.

“My acorn cupcake is so yummy!”
said Timmy, copying her every word.

“Let’s go play with my ball!” said Timmy.
“No... we’d rather stay here,” answered Squirrel,
still feeling upset.

Lyra was a very happy little swallow.
She loved to fly low, tell jokes, and do funny things for her friends.
But what she loved most of all was the rain.

When it rained, Lyra would jump in the puddles and sing while looking up at the sky, but it hadn't rained in a long time. The trees were very thirsty , and the puddles were all gone.

One morning, Lyra noticed the clouds were very quiet, so she decided to fly all the way up to them to ask what was wrong.

“Hello, little clouds... Why isn’t it raining?” she asked, and the clouds looked at each other and said, “It only rains when we are sad, but today we don’t want to be sad.”

Galen was a happy little boy. He loved to laugh, run, and play but sometimes, he didn't listen to his mommy.

“Galen, please pick up your toys,”
Mommy said. But he just ran off to play.

One afternoon, Galen climbed the hill with his friend Vera. They lay in the soft grass and looked up at the sky.

Suddenly, a star twinkled. Vera closed her eyes and whispered,
“I wish my mommy had more time to play with me!”
The star glowed... and zoomed across the sky.

Excited, Galen squeezed his eyes shut and shouted,
“I wish for a giant cake all for myself!”
But his star... didn’t move at all.
